

WidePoint Company iSYS Expands Contract With Transportation Security Administration

Mobile Telecom Expense Management Contract Increased by $6.3 Million

Monday, July 07, 2008

WASHINGTON, D.C., -- WidePoint Corporation (AMEX: WYY) today announced that its subsidiary iSYS has received a contract modification that expands its existing mobile telecom management system (MTMS) contract with the Transportation Security Administration (TSA). The increase adds approximately $6.3 million to the value of the contract, which runs until September 30, 2009.

The modified and expanded contract includes program management, hardware and integration services in addition to an increase in the number of handsets under management.

iSYS President Jin Kang said, "Our Intelligent Telecom Management System, or ITMS, is the leading MTMS solution in the federal market. We believe we can continue to leverage our leadership position, proprietary applications and existing contract vehicles to grow our business meaningfully in 2008 and beyond. We are aggressively pursuing other opportunities at a number of federal agencies under the Federal Strategic Sourcing Initiative and continue discussions with several potential commercial, state and public customers as we expand our sales and marketing efforts."
