WidePoint Subsidiary Soft-ex Selected as Key Supplier at the Public Sector Network Summit

Soft-ex to showcase cloud-based telecom intelligence solutions

McLean, VA and Dublin, IE, June 25, 2014 – WidePoint Corporation (NYSE Mkt: WYY) a leading provider of Managed Mobility Services (MMS) featuring Cybersecurity and Telecommunications Lifecycle Management (TLM) solutions, announced today that WidePoint subsidiary Soft-ex has been selected to attend as a key supplier at the Public Sector Network (PSN) Summit in the Queen Elizabeth II Conference Centre, Westminster, London on June 25, 2014.

In association with the UK Cabinet Office and PSNGB, the industry association for PSN suppliers, the PSN Summit is attended by senior figures from Central Government, Local Government, and the National Health Service. The key theme of the summit will be the implications of PSN for public service transformation and efficiency cost savings. Soft-ex will be presenting Optimiser TDI, an advanced online Telecom Data Intelligence (TDI) and Telecom Expense Management (TEM) hosted solution, which can provide centralised telecom intelligence to the Cabinet Office and Central Government Organisations, and visibility to all individual Local Government departments/offices on their telecoms usage and spend for fixed, mobile and data, enabling improved control, efficiencies and cost savings.

Ian Sparling, CEO at Soft-ex, commented, "We are delighted to be attending this summit and sharing our expertise with key figures from the UK Cabinet Office and Local Government. Our solutions deliver a centralised portal with advanced analytics to better manage and control government telecoms spend and efficiencies, not to mention infrastructure optimisation."

Steve Komar, CEO of WidePoint stated, "Soft-ex has recently been included as a key supplier in the G-Cloud 5 framework by the UK Government. Our presence in the PSN Summit further validates us as a lead supplier in the UK public sector space and mirrors our strength and growth strategy in the U.S. in working with key government organizations and their support elements."
